"Your home computer is a popular target for intruders, viruses, spyware and other Internet threats. Why? Intruders want what you have stored there. They look for credit card numbers, bank account information, and any other useful information. By stealing that information, intruders can use your identity/money to buy themselves goods and services. They can use your computer to attack other computers on the Internet, to track your behaviors, or they can install programs that can be downright annoying.

During this 2-hour presentation, you will learn about the threats that exist on the Internet, and methods that you can use to protect yourself against them. Some of the topics that will be covered include: Virus and Sypware protection, Hackers, Wireless Security, Identity Theft, etc..."
